BACKGROUND:
TAAG brings together U.S. taxpayers who are seeking the accountability of U.S. officials for allegedly aiding and abetting the genocide in Gaza. TAAG maintains that U.S. political, financial,-diplomatic and military support has helped enable the-ongoing genocide.

Israeli officials have already described the dependence. In September 2024 a senior Israeli Air Force official told Haaretz that Israel would have struggled to sustain the war for more than a few months without U.S. weapons. In October 2024 former Mossad intelligence director Zohar Palti told The Washington Post: "Without the U.S. weapons, Israel cannot fight."

The United States and Israel have moved to delegitimize the International Criminal Court, sanction its officials, and criminalize those who document or support accountability for the genocide in Gaza. The sanctions imposed by the US in 2025 on UN Special Rapporteur Francesca Albanese after the presentation of her report on corporate complicity in the genocide in Gaza and the most recent verbal assault when she presented her report on media complicity are part of the same campaign. So are the broader efforts to treat any cooperation with international legal institutions as hostile. Without the enforcement of international law, the crimes continue with the protection of the states that supply the weapons and the political cover.

The delegation's message is simple: No more impunity for those who finance, arm, aid and abet genocide. No government official is above international law.
